WELCOME TO THE COLLEGE

On behalf of the RAOC Apprentices College, I wish to extend a warm welcome to all the visitors here at the Spring Term Passing Out Parade. I know many of you will have travelled considerable distances to be here with us to-day, and I can assure you that your support is greatly appreciated by both apprentices and permanent staff.

The apprentices who are passing out to-day have completed a rigorous training which should benefit them admirably for a successful career in the Army. It is the sincere hope of the College that the apprentices who pass out will, in due course, assume appointments as senior non-commissioned officers. Many have the capability, and will be provided with the opportunity to reach a warrant rank and some may be commissioned.

To-day is also my last Passing Out Parade as Commanding Officer. I would like to thank all parents, guardians and friends, both past and present, for the support they have given me and my permanent staff. Your support is a necessary element to ensure the apprentices get the maximum from their stay. I have thoroughly enjoyed my tour at the College and have been impressed by the standard of the apprentices to date. Working with apprentices is certainly invigorating, satisfying and gives one a sense of achievement. I trust that you will give the same support to my successor.

I hope that you will enjoy the Spring Term Passing Out Parade to-day, and that you will take advantage of the availability of the permanent staff to discuss your son's progress and any aspects of his military career about which you are unclear.

On behalf of the College staff, I would like to wish everyone present a Happy Easter. To the parents and Term Leavers, the very best for the future and thank you for being here to-day, when the RAOC Apprentices College is on parade for you, and your son's, enjoyment.

THE STAFF BAND OF THE ROYAL ARMY ORDNANCE CORPS

The music to-day is played by the Staff Band of the Royal Army Ordnance Corps. Originally this band was formed from volunteer RAOC Depot soldiers in 1921. In 1922 the nucleus of the present Corps Band was formed with the addition of 16 musicians mostly from the 3rd Battalion The Rifle Brigade.

In January 1939 the Band was officially recognised as an established Staff Band of the British Army and Bandmaster H C Jarman was appointed as Director of Music. In 1953 the Band moved to Blackdown.

The present Director of Music is Capt R G Swift who first joined the Army as a pianist and clarinettist with the Royal Engineers Staff Band at Aldershot in 1960.

He was selected to attend the Student Bandmasters Course at the Royal Military School of Music, Kneller Hall, in 1972. On graduation he won eight major awards and was appointed Bandmaster to the Queen's Royal Irish Hussars, with whom he served for five years in Paderborn, West Germany.

In 1979 he returned to Kneller Hall where he served for two years as the School Bandmaster. He was commissioned as Director of Music, The Light Division, in 1981 and was based in Winchester with the Headquarters Staff. In November 1983 he received his present appointment as Director of Music, The Royal Army Ordnance Corps Staff Band.

The Band carries out an intensive programme of parades, concerts, dances and many forms of official functions. In recent years they have toured Germany, the Far and Middle East, West Indies, and Central and North America.

A HISTORY OF THE ROYAL ARMY ORDNANCE CORPS

To-day the Royal Army Ordnance Corps is a highly developed part of the British Army, being responsible, in brief, for the receipt, storing and issuing of thousands of different types of stores required by the Army. Such stores range from hand tools to guided missiles, food to ammunition, petrol to radar equipment. Additionally, specialist services such as printing, bakeries and laundry services are provided.

As a military body, the Corps dates back little more than a century. However, ordnance services as such have their origins in the 15th century; the first recorded holder of the appointment Master General of Ordnance being in 1414. His function primarily was the storing and supplying of war-like stores. Following the sweeping Army reforms of 1855 came the forerunner of the RAOC with the formation of the Military Stores Department, under a Director of Stores. In 1893 the department was re-designated the Army Ordnance Department and Corps.

A great proving ground for the Ordnance Services came with the 1914-18 War, and after severe testing their services were fully recognised. In November 1918 the Department and Corps were amalgamated and granted the title "Royal" and the RAOC as such was in being. During the Second World War the RAOC operated world-wide and from a seriously under-established body grew into a highly efficient organisation which by the end of hostilities numbered 8,000 officers and 130,000 men.

Since the War the Corps has continued to give invaluable service; there has been re-organisation and with the disbandment of the Royal Army Service Corps in 1965 took over the supply functions of that Corps. Full advantage has been taken of modern techniques. Computers are widely used in stock control and the Corps pioneered the introduction of work study in the Army. The RAOC faces an enormous logistical task, demanding high standards of administrative skill, technical and military knowledge from all ranks.
